

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Facilitator Training Seminar

"To Improve The Quality of Instruction At All Levels"

The AAPT Aims To Develop A Cadre Of Faculty Developers To Lead Teaching And Learning Workshops Regarding Philosophy Across The U.S. And Beyond

Location: Saginaw Valley State University, Saginaw, Michigan
Date: July 27–31, 2016
Seminar Leader: Stephen Bloch-Schulman (4 time facilitator/co-facilitator of the APA/AAPT Graduate Seminar on Teaching and Learning in Philosophy)
Application Deadline: April 15, 2016

Description

Participants will review best practices in teaching and learning, practice successful workshop facilitation techniques, peer review workshop designs, and examine the fundamentals of workshop administration, specifically focused on the administration of one-day regional workshops in teaching and learning run by the AAPT.

Attendance

Participants are required to attend all sessions, which will be July 27–31, 2016 in conjunction with the American Association of Philosophy Teachers Biennial conference in Saginaw, Michigan. We will meet each morning, leaving the participants the afternoon to attend and learn in other sessions during the conference.

Fees & Waivers

The seminar is free.

Conference registration, the cost of meals and lodging, and travel expenses will be the responsibility of the participants.

Please see reverse side for application.

APPLICATION

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

Facilitator Training Seminar

Saginaw Valley State University

Saginaw, MI

July 27-31, 2016

To apply please send the following three items to Seminar Leader Stephen Bloch-Schulman, sschulman@elon.edu

(1) Background Information

Name:

Institution:

Email:

Major Fields of Interest:

(2) A statement of interest or description of what you hope to gain from the seminar.

Where are you in your development as a leader in Teaching & Learning? What is your professional context? Diversity of participants is valued. (500-word limit)

(3) A statement of qualifications, focused on teaching, faculty development and leadership, and the scholarship of teaching and learning. (500-word limit, CV format welcomed)

Contact Information

- For additional information about the Seminar (content, application status, etc.), please contact Stephen Bloch-Schulman (email: sschulman@elon.edu).
- For more information about the American Association of Philosophy Teachers, please see <http://philosophyteachers.org> or contact Emily Esch, Executive Director, eesch@csbsju.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: April 15, 2016