

American Association of Philosophy Teachers and American Philosophical Association

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Teaching and Learning in Philosophy

Location: ~~University of~~ University of
Date: Saturday, ~~April~~ April, 2015
Time: 9am – 5pm
Application Deadline: ~~April~~ April, 2015

Description

Participants will read some of the best literature regarding how learning happens, how to design maximally effective courses, and how to improve classroom practice. The goal is not only to provide tips, although we will provide some. Rather, the seminar is designed to enhance participants' ability to make effective pedagogical choices. The interactive sessions provide opportunities for participants to reflect with colleagues on how to individualize evidence-based best teaching practices to one's own idiosyncratic teaching contexts. Participants will learn how to identify and select challenging and transformative learning objectives and how to design and assess sequences of learning activities to make the achievement of those goals highly likely.

Comments from Past Participants

- "The seminar shifted and honed the way I think about and practice teaching in substantial ways"
- "Inspiring, fascinating, and incredibly helpful"
- "A must for anyone who cares about students"
- "An intensive boot-camp for learner-centered education"
- "Not at all like the typical (mostly useless) "teaching orientation" that most graduate students get"

Eligibility & Fees

There is no charge for members of the American Association of Philosophy Teachers. ~~People~~ People who are not members can become a member today. Student membership is $25 and regular membership is $40. To join the AAPT at the same time you apply to participate in this workshop, go to:
http://www.pdcnet.org/aapt/American-Association-of-Philosophy-Teachers-\(AAPT\)EE)

Please see reverse side for application.

APPLICATION

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

Workshop on Teaching and Learning in Philosophy Dallas/Fort Worth

September 26, 2015

To apply please send the following two items to Seminar Leader David W. Concepción (dwconcepcion@bsu.edu).

(1) Provide the following information

Name:

Email:

Institutional Affiliation (if any):

Major Field(s) of Interest:

(2) In no more than 500 words total, provide both of the following:

- (i) A statement of your interest in the seminar or description of what you hope to gain from the seminar.
- (ii) A very brief description of your previous teaching experience and your current teaching context.

Contact Information

- For additional information regarding the workshop, please contact David W. Concepción, dwconcepcion@bsu.edu.
- For additional information regarding the AAPT please see the AAPT website at: <http://www.philosophyteachers.org> or contact Emily Esch, Executive Director, eesch@csbsju.edu.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: August 15, 2015