

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

"To Improve The Quality of Instruction in Philosophy At All Levels"

CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS

Inclusive Pedagogy in Philosophy: Chicago

Location: Harper College, Palatine, IL
Date: Saturday, August 17, 2019
Time: 8:30am – 5pm
Seminar Leaders: Stephen Bloch-Schulman, Elon College
David W. Concepción, Ball State University
Alida Liberman, Southern Methodist University
Jeanine Weeks Schroer, University of Minnesota-Duluth

Application Deadline: March 18, 2019

Description

Participants will read some of the best literature regarding inclusive pedagogy in philosophy. The goal is not primarily to provide tips, although we will provide some. Rather, the workshop is designed to enhance participants' ability to make highly effective pedagogical choices. The interactive sessions provide opportunities for participants to reflect with colleagues on how to individualize evidence-based best teaching practices to one's own teaching context. The workshop is intended primarily for people working within philosophy departments in higher education.

Eligibility and Fees

We have space for 20 participants, and encourage participants from diverse institutions and in different stages and within different career paths, including graduate students, adjunct faculty, lecturers, VAPs, and tenure-line faculty (both teaching and research). Because of generous support from the American Philosophical Association participation in this event is free. Additionally, each participant will receive a $200 stipend after completing the workshop.

What Past AAPT Workshop Participants Have Said

- "This was the most productive and affirming single day of my entire 6.5 years of grad school."
- "For those who have been teaching a while, it is a fantastic way to revitalize your teaching without feeling judged."
- "A surprising amount of content covered in a short period of time, without feeling dense or overwhelming. Relaxed but focused atmosphere"
- "Unlike other pedagogy training I have had, the workshop made clear both what to do and why. I felt motivated and empowered to make better teaching choices."
- "It is a game changer"
- "Inspirational"

Please see reverse side for application.

APPLICATION

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

Workshop in Inclusive Pedagogy in Philosophy: Chicago August 17, 2019

To apply please send the following two items to workshop lead facilitator: David W. Concepción, dwconcepcion@bsu.edu, as a docx attachment.

(1) Contact Information

Name:

Email:

Institutional Affiliation (if any):

Career Stage/Job Title:

Major Field(s) of Philosophic Interest:

(2) In no more than 500 words total, provide both of the following:

- (i) A brief description of your previous teaching experience, your current teaching context and its challenges, and any other contextual information that will help us select a diverse group of participants.
- (ii) A very brief description of you will use and share what you learn at the workshop.

APPLICATION DEADLINE, March 18, 2019

Additional Information

- For additional information about the workshop, please contact David W. Concepción, dwconcepcion@bsu.edu
- For additional information regarding the AAPT please see the AAPT website at: <https://www.philosophyteachers.org> or contact Alexandra Bradner, Executive Director, alexandrabradner@gmail.com.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: March 18, 2019