

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

"To Improve The Quality of Instruction in Philosophy At All Levels"

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Workshop: Inclusive Pedagogy in Philosophy

Location: University of Minnesota-Twin Cities (Minneapolis, MN)
Date: Saturday, August 25, 2018
Time: 8:30am – 5pm
Workshop Leaders: Andrew P. Mills, Otterbein University
Emily Esch, College of St. Benedict/St. John's University

Application Deadline: Friday, July 13, 2018

Description

Participants will read some of the best literature regarding how learning happens, how to design maximally effective courses, and how to improve classroom practice with a special emphasis on inclusive pedagogy. The goal is not primarily to provide tips, although we will provide some. Rather, the workshop is designed to enhance participants' ability to make highly effective pedagogical choices that enable all students to flourish. The interactive sessions provide opportunities for participants to reflect with colleagues on how to individualize evidence-based best teaching practices to their own idiosyncratic teaching contexts and their own understanding about what matters most for inclusive pedagogy. Participants will learn how to identify and select challenging, transformative, and inclusive learning objectives and how to design and assess sequences of learning activities to make the achievement of those goals highly likely. The friendships and collegial relationships begun here can last a lifetime.

Comments from Past Participants

- "It is a game changer"
- "The seminar shifted and honed the way I think about and practice teaching in substantial ways"
- "Inspiring, fascinating, and incredibly helpful"
- "There wasn't a minute wasted in the workshop"
- "A must for anyone who cares about students"
- "An intensive boot-camp for learner-centered education"
- "Not at all like the typical (mostly useless) 'teaching orientation' that most graduate students get"

Eligibility & Fees

There is no charge for members of the American Association of Philosophy Teachers. However, only members may attend. Become a member today. Student membership is $25 and regular membership is $40. To join the AAPT at the same time you apply to participate in this workshop, go to:

http://www.pdcnet.org/aapt/American-Association-of-Philosophy-Teachers-\(AAPT\)).

Please see reverse side for application.

APPLICATION

American Association of Philosophy Teachers

Workshop on Inclusive Pedagogy in Philosophy Minneapolis, MN August 25, 2018

To apply please send the following two items Workshop Leader Andrew P. Mills, andrewpmills@gmail.com

- (1) Provide the following information
Name:
Email:
Institutional Affiliation(s) (if any):
Major Field(s) of Interest:

- (2) In no more than 500 words total, provide both of the following:
 - (i) A statement of your interest in the workshop or description of what you hope to gain from the workshop.
 - (ii) A very brief description of your previous teaching experience and your current teaching context.

Contact Information

- For additional information regarding the workshop, please contact Andrew P. Mills, andrewpmills@gmail.com

- For additional information regarding the AAPT please see the AAPT website at:
<http://www.philosophyteachers.org> or contact Alexandra Bradner, Executive Director,
alexandrabadner@gmail.com

APPLICATION DEADLINE: July 13, 2018