

Call for Proposals

Inclusive Pedagogies

APA Eastern Division Meeting
January 3–6, 2018
Savannah, GA

The American Association of Philosophy Teachers (AAPT), in collaboration with the APA Committee on the Teaching of Philosophy (CTP), seeks proposals for a session on inclusive pedagogies for the upcoming Teaching Hub at the 2018 Eastern Division meeting, January 3–6, in Savannah, GA.

We invite proposals for a 2018 Teaching Hub session on the topic of making teaching practices more inclusive for students coming from a variety of perspectives/backgrounds. We especially encourage submissions that offer concrete pedagogical strategies. Possible topics include but are not limited to the following:

- Assignment construction
- Assessment strategies
- Grading/grading criteria
- Syllabus design
- Guiding discussions on controversial topics
- Creating community in the classroom
- Universal design

Submissions:

To submit a proposal for consideration, please email Rebecca Scott (rebecca.g.scott@gmail.com) by Friday, September 15, 2017, with the subject line “Inclusive Pedagogies Eastern APA.” In the body of the email, please include your name, institutional affiliation (if any), position (if any), and contact information. Attached to the email, please include an anonymized abstract of 500 to 750 words (in .doc, .docx, or .pdf format), describing both the focus of your presentation and what you hope the audience will take away from your presentation.

The organizing committee will select 2–4 participants for the session by late September and will aim to assemble a panel that is diverse in many respects, including career stage and institutional affiliation.

Deadline for Proposals: September 15, 2017

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Rebecca Scott at the above address.

The AAPT-APA Teaching Hub is a series of interactive workshops and conversations designed specifically for philosophers and created to celebrate teaching within the context of the APA divisional meetings. Jointly organized by the APA Committee on the Teaching of Philosophy (CTP) and the American Association of Philosophy Teachers (AAPT), the Teaching Hub aims to offer a range of high-quality and inclusive development opportunities that address the teaching of philosophy at all levels, pre-college through graduate school.
